

“We Serve White’s Only,” photograph, 1949

This is a small, west Texas wheat town with practically no permanent Spanish-American population. The sign is meant for the migratory agricultural worker. It is part of the collection of the University of Texas, Austin, Study of Spanish Speaking People Collection

